READING FOR PLEASURE
We will be reading these simple chapter books to encourage listening without a picture to look at and to develop good listening skills. We will discuss the vocabulary in the stories and predict the plot. We will talk about the characters as the stories develop.

This book contains 8 traditional tales. We will read them to the children, discussing the characters, settings, plot and language. Children will create story maps for some of the stories and some children will attempt to write their own simple stories.

This story will enable us to discuss different types of friendships and how we should give everyone a chance. We will talk about other unlikely friendships and different types of relationships.

Year R Summer 1 Reading Road

A caring, curious and courageous curriculum.

This book will provide a stimulus for some non fiction writing about our own friends and families and times when we may need a hug!

We will listen to poems from this book each day..
